Kormilda College occupies a 20-hectare site and is located some 16km from the business centre of Darwin.

The College is an independent, co-educational, multi-cultural day and residential secondary school under the auspices of the Anglican and Uniting Churches.

The largest boarding facility in the Northern Territory, Kormilda's 300 residential students are accommodated in four separate houses, 1 boys, 1 girls, and 2 co-ed. The houses all contain twin-share rooms.

The primary aim of Kormilda, as a residential college, is to provide a value-based, educational and boarding experience for isolated aboriginal and non-aboriginal students from the northern and central parts of Australia.

Students are offered a wide range of recreational activities, including craft, sporting, and community service, which help them develop skills, initiative and independence.
