Atherton Student Group Home, also known as Audley House, is situated in the large town of Atherton on the Atherton Tablelands, approx 100 km south-west of Cairns.

Under the auspices of the Uniting Church Frontier Services, the hostel was established in a large residential dwelling to become a co-educational facility for up to eight or nine Primary and Secondary School students.

Accommodation is in shared bedrooms at ground-floor level, with 2 senior student rooms available on an upper level and shared bathroom facilities. Computers are provided for use in Home Study time.

A House-parent couple cater for the pastoral needs of the students as well as maintaining the daily running of the household. A strong link with the local schools is a high priority for the hostel.

Students are encouraged to participate in sporting teams within the community.
