The Department for Family and Children's Services, Aboriginal Student Accommodation Service (ASAS) has provided accommodation in Perth for 50 Aboriginal students.

Six student houses operating in the Metropolitan area cater for eligible Indigenous secondary school students who wish to come to Perth for educational purposes. (Photograph, student residence at Mt Lawley).

The houses, two for boys and four for girls, are located in residential areas and well situated to local secondary schools.

Each of the Houses have in residence a contracted House-parent who looks after the students on a daily basis.

Accommodation in each of the Houses may differ in facilities provided, for example some of the Houses have swimming pools while others have basketball areas.

This facility is responsible only for providing accommodation for the students. Parents and care-givers are responsible for booking a place for the student at the school they wish them to attend.
